MRS. E. J. DIMMICK, Secretary of the Society for the Protection of Homeless Cats.

Tabby Waifs Will Have Home Like That of the Old Soldiers.

The ethics and mysteries of sanitary. housing of homeless and friendless cats were both at bat yesterday afternoon when a dozen women and one man-besides the reporters—gathered in the F street reception room of the New Wil-lard and elected officers of an organization which proposes to look after these iejected and starved felines.

The Friendly Hand is the name given to the new society. It was decided to the new society. It was decided upon after every one of the dozen women had suggested at least as many different titles, which developed all sorts of complications as some of the women were not certain which of the names suggested by 4them best suited a feline orphans' home. The one man finally solved the problem. He thought the Priendly Hand a most fitting name for the home.

Meaning of Name.

"Does that mean we will have to go to the home and feed the dear cats out of our hands?" asked one young woman who sat in the front row and took a keen interest in the proceedings.

When the one man explained that the

When the one man explained that the name had only an allegorical significance, she thought the idea just the most appropriate thing ever suggested. And so the secretary was instructed to cast a ballot and it value with the minutes that the cats whose parents had died young and who failed to find a friendly hearth on which to coil on cold winter nights would be protected by the Friendly Hand.

It seems that the women who are responsible for the new society are really in earnest; in fact, they take cats seriously.

Once inside the reporter found that the following had been elected officers: Mrs. Henry L. West, president; Mrs. A. L. Barber, vice president; Mrs. E. J. Dimmick, secretary; Mrs. M. A. Peet, treasurer, and the following executive committee: The officers ex officio and Mrs. George H. Burpee, Mrs. Florence Johnson, and Miss Louise Robinson.

The one man was Mr. Dimmick, and he occupied the chair, serving as chairman of the meeting. The meeting was confined to a genera! discussion of cats after the officers had been elected and the name decided upon.

While one of the members was discussing the humanitarian standpoint of properly caring for cuts in their old age, preparing them to complacently cross the Styx of feline futurity. Mrs. Johnson startled every one in the room by rising to her feet and declaring:

"I am perfectly willing to do without a new bennet and fix up my old one and wear winter clothes on the glorious Fourth of July, and spend the money thus saved in this cause for the protection of our cats."

Such was the spirit of the meeting. The parliamentary proceedings at first puzzled some of the members, out after this feature of the meeting was safely put on the shelf, the discussion of the continuations of the continuation of the continuat

Food for Inmates.

It was announced that several hotels agreed to give the society scraps, and this meant a good deal when it taken into consideration that friend-less and homeless cats have to be fed just like the other kind.
